REPORT NO.

THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

50X1-HUM

1. The radio station at Arkona on the Isle of Rügen is under German control and is staffed by Germans. The station carries out normal coast-guard duties.
2. The signal station is occupied and controlled by a Russian Naval detachment. In addition to navigation lights there is also a radar aerial located on the signal station building.
3. The aerial (see attached sketch) does not resemble any former German radar aerial but a similar one has for some time been located on a building on the former German Air Force Station at Margrafhenheide/Warnemünde (Dorfstrasse).
4. No other radar stations are known to be on the Rügen coast.
